Mat29h term test 2

Question

TERM TEST 2
Personally, there we only 6 questions i was able to fully recognize on this test, and as someone who genuienly loves math it pains me that I had to guess so much for this test. I've been studying for this for almost 2 1/2 weeks, and if I knew this was how this test was, i wouldve rather just focused all of my attention to my chem and bio test, (which is in 2 days), and now i only have two days to study for bio when i could've had those 2 weeks. I haven't failed any math/solving related questions at all in uni so far, but unfortunately this definitely has broken that record. I know that many others feel the same way, so to professor parker, if you are seeing this, please, as an international student who is practically forced to maintain a high gpa (and have been), along with the many others in my situation, would you kindly consider a grade curve or a possible reweight to the assignments or the final exam?
