MATA29 Term Test 2

Rant

Omg…that was honestly…horrible?

I'm not sure what else I could have done to prepare, when I basically did everything there was. That was undoubtedly a difficult test, and at this point, I genuinely could have used more of that time to study for the BIOA01 test instead. Not that it was hard knowing what to prioritize, but the review materials were nothing like the test so now it's making me feel so unmotivated. I thought going through the reading guide questions was going to help again, because they really did for the first term test. Anyway, now I'm sitting at the dinner table trying to keep my composure to act as if I didn't just probably flunk that test. Massive GPA tank incoming😭 Good luck on everything else though, everyone.

Parker is pretty chill and nice tbh. I'd be surprised if he didn't do something about it for sure! we always have to think as though they will indeed be harder. the first test was easy for most people, so many turned a blind eye there thinking this test would be the same. myself included, i probably should have searched for harder questions or something, i don't know, will keep it in mind for the final. we just have to try harder.

That's what I was thinking about. I've heard that the final exam is more difficult than the term tests
